

From: [REDACTED]

To: marshall.ecft@gmail.com

Sent: Wen 22/2/2012 9:32:39 PM

In Ash files there's also a security status scan, you generate a session number (XXXXXX) and paste it to the program, it checks if the data is safe.

These session numbers are fragile, they expire, and the backup system changes the number to HEX, that way it's accessible for a few more days.

That was [REDACTED] stupid idea who uses HEX anyway..